DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's amendment was received on 7/21/04, and has been entered and made of record. Currently, claims 21-30, 32, 34-43, 45-48, 50, and 52-54 are pending.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 21-30, 32, 34-43, 45-48, 50, and 52-54 are allowed (renumbered as claims 2-10, 1, 11, 17-25, 16, 26, 12-15, and 27-29, respectively).

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Regarding claims 30, 43, 53, and 54 (renumbered claims 1, 16, 28, and 29, respectively), in the examiner's opinion, it would not have been obvious to have the apparatuses and methods, as claimed, include the limitation requiring the transmission of the stored e-mail data corresponding to the designated management data, to a destination, in accordance with a command of output by the terminal apparatus, to a destination being distinct from the terminal apparatus and from the printer. The closest prior art, previously indicated as Bobo, II (U.S. Patent Number 5,870,549), Ohta (U.S. Patent Number 6,396,848), as well as Mochizuki (U.S. Patent Number 6,101,526), each fail to expressly disclose this feature. Particularly, Bobo, II teaches of a system that receives a data message at a terminal apparatus after giving a command to output the message. Thus the destination is not distinct from the terminal apparatus. Continuing, Ohta fails to teach of generating a HTML file that includes management data that corresponds to the stored e-mail data, as the HTML file includes data regarding a facsimile transmission of a converted message. With this, Ohta further fails to disclose that the destination is distinct from the terminal apparatus and printer. Finally, Mochizuki teaches of a system wherein e-mail is transferred to an attached printer, thus the destination is not distinct from the printer. Because of this feature, which was added in the amendment dated 7/21/04, the claims are rendered allowable.

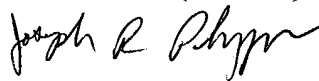

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
